Summary of Legislation: This bill authorizes a school corporation to operate one or more schools on a four-day school week if instructional time and certain other requirements are met.

Effective Date: July 1, 2006.

Explanation of State Expenditures: The bill should have no state fiscal impact since the school must meet the instructional time and days requirements of other schools. The school would still have to provide at least 180 days of instructional time.

Explanation of State Revenues:

Explanation of Local Expenditures: The bill could decrease or increase some school expenses, but the change would probably be minor and dependent on local action. To accommodate a four-day school week, the school schedule would have to be modified to shorten vacations or add days to the beginning or the end of the school year. Approximately nine four-day school weeks would need to be added to the school calendar to maintain the 180-day school requirement.
